

Browne's Addition

Historic Preservation Month 2016

Planted around the turn of the century, these three trees represent some of the original landscaping for this area of the neighborhood and the city.

Believed to have been planted by Dr. Peter Reid and his family, it is said that Dr. Reid, when socializing with friends, would drink gin and tonics and always make one for the tree and pour it on its roots. The current owners have continued that tradition.

Growing nearly 200 feet tall, this Ponderosa Pine has become a local icon and is, in fact, the official tree of the City of Spokane as well as the largest in the city!

Stop by the Northwest Museum of Arts & Culture during your trip through Browne's Edition to check out their exhibits and gift shop. Scavenger hunt participants will receive a discount on a special item!

Take advantage of some great dining opportunities on your journey. Begin or end your treasure hunt with some food and drink at the neighborhood restaurants.
